The steamer Virginia, which was stranded in a cornfield near Wheeling during the flood in February, has been put back into the water and will be placed into commission today between Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

G. W. ROLLER.

Mr. G. W. Roller, brother of Mrs. H. B. Daugherty of the Central Hotel, died last evening at 5 o'clock at his home in Newport, after an illness with a complication of diseases, aged 35. He was at the head of the Claims Department of the Q and C. Railway. He was a man of high integrity and was esteemed highly for his general good citizenship. Mrs. Daugherty left for Newport yesterday and was at his bedside when the end came.

SAMUEL A. PEDDICORD

Mr. Samuel A. Peddicord, aged 40 years, died at the home of his brother, Oscar, at the Stag Hotel in Paris, Ky., Friday. He was born in Dover in 1870 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Peddicord of Bourbon, who, with several brothers and sisters, a wife and four sons, survive him.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by Local Applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound in your ears, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since causes of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

TERROR FOR CROOKS

"Camera Eye" Sheridan Becomes Partner of Burns.

Man Who Never Forgets the "Mug" of a Criminal Now to Be Protector of the Banks.

New York.—A ripple of ironic laughter ran through the Society of American Crooks the other day when it was announced that William P. Sheridan, of all the men in the world, had obtained his retirement from the New York police force on the score of defective eyesight.

The humor of it was that Sheridan has long been known by the sobriquet of "the man with the camera eye," meaning that every face he sees is fastened on the retina of his marvellous orb with photographic accuracy and there classified and labeled by a memory which has never yet been found at fault.

Of course, the situation was understood when it became known that Sheridan had become a partner of William J. Burns, the one time secret service man, and that they are to control the business of the American Bankers' association.

Despite their subtle appreciation of the joke this intelligence was not pleasing to the brotherhood of bank robbers.

Burns, who will be Sheridan's associate, is the man who uncovered the land frauds and turned out the grafters in San Francisco, so the combination is a portentous one to the fraternity. Whenever one of the cult that lives by introducing pieces of finely bent wire into the meshes of tellers' cages or thrives by writing other men's names on small oblongs of paper sees the sign "Members of American Banking association" staring him in the face he departs quietly, for bringing the man that was wanted with him.

It soon developed, though, that Sergt. Sheridan was an invaluable man at headquarters, and he was put in charge of the identification bureau. It was found that he could look just once at a prisoner, or, indeed, at anyone, and keep the memory fresh indefinitely. It was found, also, that he could take up a police picture sent from a distant city and read the details on the back of it casually and recall every word he had read weeks afterward. And, indeed, as years passed over his head it was discovered that his wonderful memory seemed to clarify on its daily toll and that the more facts, figures and physiognomies he absorbed, marshalled and arranged the more perfectly he was able to visualize any of them.

The Maysville and Augusta baseball teams put up a rattling good game in Hunter's bottoms yesterday afternoon. The former won out by a score of 10 to 7.

MOTHERS WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS

Find Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Hudson, Ohio.—"If mothers realized the good your remedies would do delicate girls I believe there would be fewer weak and ailing women. Irregular and painful periods and such troubles would be relieved at once in many cases. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is fine for ailing girls and run-down women. Their delicate organs need a tonic and the Compound gives new ambition and life from the first dose."—Mrs. GEORGE STRICKLER, Hudson, Ohio, R. No. 5, Box 32.

Hundreds of such letters from mothers expressing their gratitude for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished for them have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

Young Girls, Heed This. Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, dizziness, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by its use.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Detective William P. Sheridan.

every bank thief knows that the association never lets go. That was always the case, but now, with "Camera Eye" Sheridan enlisted in the conspiracy against them, they are asking, "What chance?"

All American crooks above the grade of petty larceny know Sheridan or have heard of him. He is to the blindfold chess player what the chess player is to the head waiter who never gives you the wrong hat, and to the head waiter what the waiter is to the parlor entertainer who can juggle five oranges. In other words Sheridan is a New York detective who can remember every face and every picture he has ever seen, and whose mind is such a storehouse of the statistics of crime that he can call off the records and characteristics of thousands of lawbreakers as pat as his morning prayers.

Sheridan was on the force a few weeks, when Inspector Thomas Byrnes ordered him to report in plain clothes.

"Do you know where Maiden Lane is?" asked Inspector Byrnes in his inimitable manner.

Sheridan saluted and said he did.

"Then go down there and learn to be a detective," commanded the great man.

And Sheridan went. And his inspector watched his work.

The young detective's first big chance came when he was told to go after the man most desired in the celebrated National Park bank case and bring him in.

Again Sheridan saluted and went away and, except for an occasional draft on the office, was not heard from in six months. Then a telegram came, and two days later Sheridan came,

WE TOLD YOU SO!

What? That flour is too cheap. Don't delay buying. It's going higher. "Jefferson" Crushed Wheat Flour will please you and make you healthy. M. C. RUSSELL CO.

J. C. Martin of near Ripley, O., came near getting in bad while in town Saturday taking in the sights. He cashed a check for $35 at the Farmers' and Traders' Bank, drawn on a Ripley Bank, with no funds in Bank to meet payment. Had not a friend in this city come to his rescue he evidently would have fared badly.
